

Fire Fly Ballet

August 12, 2021

otton candy. The answer to, What's at the carnival that makes the clowns tolerable?

How do you explain to a thinking animal what they can't see is critical for their survival? Would you like the answer or do you want to keep pontificating?

Studying particle physics with soil ecology is part of mac's duties. She is actually the only person on the earth that can handle radio active contaminated materials and keep on ticking. Think of her as God's Timex.

Are We at Team God opposed to nuclear power? Hell, no. Great investment dollars there. What is the problem? The cheapest bidding mother fucker that gets the contract and then goes after all the extras for profit that have nothing to do with building a decent nuclear power plant. We at Team God love electro-magnets too.

Other toys are really awesome. For instance how about taking carbon atoms sticking them in a cotton candy machine and creating a lighter than air solid that will stop a machine gun bullet with only a few inches of material thickness at point blank range and keep a cup of coffee hot for hours without a lid in a physics lab because its has perfect heat retention, more or less. La Jolla campuses do some real neat research for the military.

What if that thing you can't see has a mystery at twilight when you spent the day in what you are certain was hell. From nowhere a light appears. It dances and then it disappears. Ah, the South.

How does God destroy those destroying the earth? Take the profit out of their research that has them destroying their own world in ignorance. You want to blow up the world? Do it. Own it. Be proud of it. Being an ignorant mother fucker when you destroy your world just gets you bitchslapped by God.

Think of those wonderful particles in a nucleus as fire flies dancing in air in the deep south. Not every being is conscious in the same way.

While on the subject of the ballet, go down to the sporting goods store and buy yourselves a cup. The Nutcracker is coming to town and she is fed up with your not being able find decent cut pants and refusing to wear a shirt coat.