Satan's behavioural access secrecy contract is qngmic.

The fraternal secrecy test of Protestant business associates needed a means to be bound together in trust, enter qngmic, Satan's behavioural access secrecy contract. Under the divination of Jehovah's Protestant numerology, this derived code, sing-it New York six six oh oh oh in the Pennsylvania 6-5000 chorus, hides a cult of thriving human traffickers the world over. The qngmic drug is dopamine and testosterone for children to bind them with a spell and detach them from bodily inhibitions controlled by the cerebral cortex. This date rape for females with testosterone doses that burn up the ovaries and put hair and acne on their faces sends them into erotic behaviours with no conscious memory of the events and emotionally scarred DNA molecules. The cult members abuse these girls (ages 4 to 6) with an Airborne-like wafer as suited their demonic pleasure. Yes, Mary McRae-Dukes enrolled her daughter in this salaried position, and amused her herself with the drug she palmed from parties privately in their own home.

How did mac trademark this code? While fighting for employment and to enjoy golf, sans stalking, mac hedged and starting building her own software consulting industry. In Texas abused by penis bearing women, (hear God say, "Cunts"), nepotism, and inbred-scholastic prejudice, mac answered ten job postings a week not including placing herself on Craig's list for legitimate employment, involving herself with job clubs, linked-in, and coding meet-ups. This five-year endeavour landed her a temporary position for ten months after the first year. Exasperated mac needed to put something together and simultaneously approached professionals to build software solutions. She wanted a unique brand.

What did mac understand about branding? No more than eight letters, simple syllables, a dot com available (she registered qngmic.com), no more than three colours (pink, lime-green, and brown), and it needed to be masculine and phallic. Why? That is what she knew Texas loved. The worst part about this is when you merge the three disciplines mac excels at, quality, engineering, and economics, what started as qengmic quickly became qngmic. Now you know the rich fuckers' day jobs. Their women are lawyers, nurses, and teachers. Tom Kallenbach and Amanda Knuteson, of Bozeman Montana are card carrying members.

God made mac destroy qngmic and its products along with her new software tool under the same name while Jehovah kept reminding her of his deadline. Jehovah hounded her to have everything dumped by midnight or she was going to die. mac met her deadline and God preserved her alive. Mary spent that night of destruction courting Earth. Within thirty days after that night of horror mac pulled herself together, took back her legal name on her birth certificate in a Travis County Court, and launched the macDukes Corporation. What is in a name, matters. The code mac destroyed is on the platform Apple launched instant messaging on.

Why should wickedness receive Eternity?
