

Give Me A Fig Leaf

February 5, 2021

our escape execution. Had it been in the wintertime only two would have lived.

The repeated vision began with a verbal clue from God, "Three men, and one of them is your husband. The other two would love you if they could."

A desert camp resembling a sprawling bomb shelter with little structure above ground in summer. Masonry block camouflaged into the landscape. mac is faced with a bayonet bearing guard offering her, her clothing on his bayonet point, with the words, "You may leave with anything you can carry."

mac returned to the three men along the firing backstop staring her naked husband in the eyes she said, "When we retell this story, give me a fig leaf." All three men smirked and the question posed was, "Where do you want it?"

"Just dangle it from my left ear."

Two of the naked men assisted putting mac's naked husband on her shoulders, then He raised the other two men to her hips with them interlocking their legs around her torso. They walked to the gate on her legs. Facing the gate mac bellowed God's name at the guards who were greedy to shoot them in the back.

The guards fell prostrate to the sand dead. The four of them scrambled crawling for weapons and clothing from the dead guards and hastened out of the compound as followers in disbelief began shooting at the four escaping prisoners.

God wants you to understand, mac carried, Him, the Lamb, and Saint Paul out of that prison camp. mac realizes it was better to sweat than escape in the winter time.

The Willing Slave

Slavery to God as mac and now Israel experience it prevent any form of questioning of what God asks be undertaken. mac is incapable of asking God to prove who He is to her. Her role is obedience. For her, when she begins to question a belief she realizes, she just can't.

She has moments of wondering is this from the devil and she realizes that is moot. She is God's slave. Israel is in the same place of strength, now. They called out for His king that Samuel prophesied about. Saul was not that king. He did begin the royal line that moved from Benjamin to Judah.

The two policies mac follows in decision making are; never make blackholes, and keep the trees trimmed to God's spec. She thought better about never shooining herself in the foot. She understands, those things heal.
