

Fresh Out of Fucks

September 8, 2019

ac purchased the towel that read; "Some days I AMAZE myself. Other days I search for my cell phone while I'm on it."

Imagine being the spouse reminded when they want food there are no fucks. Which spouse is referring to sex with the other as hitting that like child's play in a Satanic celebration? Spooning need not be a sexual gesture. There are times each partner just needs to be cradled. Spooning is just the ticket. Why should that come with a promise of sex that one or the other just cannot emotionally or physically accommodate. But that closeness, especially when courting, is needed.

As far as not being afraid to use crazy, it has been done on a Biblical scale. Medication is one component of managing disease. Saying goodbye to; commercial sweeteners (i.e. high fructose corn syrup and dextrose) yeast fermented alcohol, gluten, insufficient water, insufficient sleep, insufficient exercise, fornication, and unprescribed mind altering substances: are all necessary for a healthy life. That is a short list. Each individual can add to that list based on their habits that need to change before they experience an inevitable calamity. There are two types of earth. Some that has cracked and some that will crack. God is quaking the earth.

Goodbye's Solution

Want that healthy life? Pray to the true God, read His Bible daily, and do Good (His) works. In mac's efforts, she may still be searching for her cell phone while she's on it. It amazes her when she finds it.
