

Good Government is a Good Shepherd

July 2, 2019

The Shepherd is calling His sheep to His care and thanking government that has served in His place. Now we must improve our lives to ease the burden on government. Government agencies provide boundaries, civil services, law, and enforcement.

Laws founded without Bible morals the true God now delivers correction to government. Christendom is exploiting the sheep. Some governments are neglecting to distribute to the poor, crippled, and hungry. Worse, some are modern kings of Sodom.

In divided Israel two biblical kings reigned in succession after Solomon. Either of the two divided kingdoms was welcome to return to the true God and He extended invitations to His people to do so. The perversion of justice and morality of Israel isolated them from their Shepherd the true God. He sent Israel into exile by secular captors. These secular captors were foreign governments. These knew who the true God was. The children of Israel's exiles the Christ called.

Three Thanks

Thank you, servants of morally driven government entities that protect your boundaries and fight exploitation. God notices sacrificing your own life for humanity.

Thank you for your dedication. Your service to law with honest motives God rewards. The true God's Kingdom is coming, after the half-a-time. Christ Jesus, head of true religion, wants us to flee false religion. A great crowd of people, everyone, out of every region and people of this earth will fill God's Kingdom through the twelve prophetic gates.

Thank you again to government and its agencies for attracting desirable, loyal, and faithful peoples that deliver stability. All of us need to realize the importance of civilization that encourages religious freedom. This liberty of expression allows persons to stand at respectful attention to others while not bowing down to give allegiance to a false god. Religious freedom also fosters true religion's rebirth on earth.

Citizens Matter

The Fine Shepherd, God of Jesus, notices those who obediently; pay taxes, care for their families, serve others, flee immorality, and fight against the sins of the flesh. Open-up your hearts to the true God and pour out your concerns in prayer because He cares for you and wants to lead you to pure worship in Christ's congregation.

Servants of government you are the true God's sheep. Thank you for your service in these critical times. Your prayers to the true God in executing your duties are precious to Him and the concerns of your heart He wants to heal.
