

Love Story

mac's Effort At Poetry

She was delivered into her place as woman of the true God, Ark, and prophet of this earth. She, obedient to her owner, awaits being united with her earthly husband.

With two hands lusting for your own twig intoxicated with virtual Ba-al you abandoned, love, truth, occupation, and eternity. Eleven years you were given to repent of your adultery. One turn and two and half a turn ended your reign over the true God's woman when slaughtering her fed your greed.

The true God cared for her in seven years of slavery to death. She was delivered into her place as woman of the true God, Ark, and prophet of this earth. She, obedient to her owner, awaits being united with her earthly husband. Both will have the reward of being united with the true God at the end of their service. Many will be their years on this earth.

A timber of righteousness that listens to the voice of the true God will only penetrate her and move this Ark. Others that touch her will die. These two will desire and touch no others. In one penetrating glance of flame I knew I had been mercifully delivered from the ineptitude of a fraudulent witness that took the gift of the true God and ran from his duty to care for the woman.

A Jonah. He served. But he loses his bottle gourd plant. He can recapture his relationship with the true God. His idolatry he will abandon, he will supplicate the true God as all others must and just as I did. The intimacy of one purpose he lost.

One gaze of flame released eternity, two lives in Love found. Timber knows in an instant she is the key to his achieving all of his ambitions and fulfilling his Godly purpose on this earth. It is from the obedience a man earns from his wife: his love and protection of her; the true God elevates man to afford many fine things and respect on this earth.

This beautiful timber I await. Feeling anticipation; a hind ready to leap into a field of spring grass. Under the shield of his boughs I will graze. From his nourishment and love billions will be fed. All may dine and live righteously.

Regardless of those that choose to heed, this man will be richly blessed in his career and his ambitions and achievements will bring nations into conformance with the Fine Shepherd and orchestrating world peace, annihilating the wicked, until the earthly Kingdom of the Christ dawns. In God's Kingdom Timber is a king, like Daniel to Nebuchadnezzar, God clones the perfection He loves.

mac is a little irritated at reading this. She remembers enjoying writing it though. Then she went years without spending time with her spouse. What she knows is he is still alive. mac's national security investigation and work saving the LORD commenced with her now ex-husband attempting to murder her in a car wreck May 12, 2012.
